

Sasquatch

By Betty Sanders Garner

Cryptozoology:
the study of animals
which may not be real.

Mermaids

Griffins

Unicorns

Dragons

The Sasquatch

YUKON TERRITORY
TERRITOIRE DU YUKON

NWT
TN-O

ALASKA
USA
É-U d'A

ALBERTA

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
ÉTATS-UNIS D'AMÉRIQUE

Atlin
Atlin L.

Dease Lake

Stikine R.

Liard R.

Fort Nelson

Stewart

Hudson's Hope

Fort St. John

Williston L.

Dawson Creek

Terrace

New Hazelton

Chetwynd

Smithers

Mackenzie

Fort St. James

Tumbler Ridge

Kitimat

Houston

Burns Lake

Fraser Lake

Vanderhoof

Prince George

McBride

Wells

Quesnel

Valemount

Kinbasket L.

Williams Lake

100 Mile House

Bella Bella

Bella Coola

Fraser R.

Revelstoke

Golden

Port Hardy

Port Alice

Port McNeill

Lillooet

Ashcroft

Kamloops

Salmon Arm

Vernon

Invermere

Campbell River

Powell River

Whistler

Squamish

Merritt

Kelowna

Nakusp

Elkford

Courtenay

Port Alberni

Sechart

Vancouver

Hope

Penticton

Nelson

Kimberley

Tofino

Ucluelet

Parksville

Nanaimo

Lady Smith

Sidney

Saanich

Victoria

Castlegar

Osoyoos

Creston

Cranbrook

Trail

Queen Charlotte City

Sandspit

Queen Charlotte Islands

Îles de la Reine-Charlotte

Dixon Entrance

Masset

Hezate Str.

Coast Mountains

Chaine Côtière

Fraser R.

Rocky Mountains / Montagnes Rocheuses

Juan de Fuca Str.
Dét de Juan de Fuca

A boat full of people taking Fraser River Safari's tour Sunday spotted this figure on the bank of the river. Could it be the sasquatch?

JO-ANNE CHADWICK PHOTO

Sasquatch sighted on river's edge in Dewdney

By CAROL AUN
Mission Record

If the sasquatch in Dewdney had wanted to spook people days before Halloween, he would've been disappointed.

Instead of a scare, those on board the Fraser River Safari tour who spotted the hairy creature Sunday afternoon had a good laugh.

Jo-Anne Chadwick, who owns Fraser

River Safari with her husband Chad, said the sasquatch was running up and down an area by the Dewdney Slough.

He was throwing rocks, as though angry about something, and then disappeared behind some bushes, said Chadwick.

Nineteen people on board the tour, which was on its way to the 100-year-old haunted house in Kilby, witnessed the sasquatch's behaviour.

"There were fishermen standing on either side, but none of them seem to have noticed the sasquatch," said Chadwick.

It was the first sasquatch sighting for Chadwick, who admitted she was just a bit scared, especially when the creature violently threw rocks in her direction.

"It was amazing," said Chadwick, who says she's not a sasquatch hunter, but will be looking out every time she travels through Dewdney now.

Harrison Lake

Purpose for reading:

- Decide whether or not you believe Albert Ostman's story. Find evidence for or against his claims.

Questions for Sasquatch:

- Focus on Reading # 1-6